

2: PRIMETIME

META: TWO TO THE N

Some series come in sequences. And a good one will keep you watching just to see what happens next.

For this puzzle, please disregard articles in titles.

The Greatest Swordsman.

- Introducing our hero: Don Diego, returns home to San Diego.
- A secretive route: Don saves his friend Benito by proving that Benito is not the masked swordsman.
- Travel to church: Mr Torres is hiding, as Monastario draws him out by torturing workers.
- Hidden Passage: Don shows Bernardo his secret base, a stable for his horse Tornado.
- A romantic evening: Don Nacho Torres leaves his hiding spot to return home, and the Masked man helps Torres escape

Cutting up Bloodsuckers.

- At a gathering, our heroine finds a bloodsucker trying to open a door to another dimension.
- A female wizard is probably the cause of our hero's cheer squad's sudden loss of sight and unprecedented burning.
- A She-Mage may have cast a curse on the cheer squad who can no longer see, and are on fire.
- Don't cause your guy to die the first time out is a good lesson as our heroine loses track of Giles during her date.
- The winged man and our heroine kiss, but she learns that he is a vampire!
- She shouldn't let her boy toy pass, and concludes that normal dating might be too deadly.

Doh! Only up to 2278.

- The son fakes his genius by swapping exams, and is sent to a gifted learning school.
- The father goes on a journey, by first bungling his job at the nuclear power plant, then becoming a safety inspector

- The family's call is heard on the next adventure when their RV breaks down, and the dad is mistaken for a monster with big feet
- The son is a military leader who rallies the children to defeat his foe, Nelson.
- A promise is made to double autos and triple peepers after meltdown at the local power plant.

Flipping your diagnostics.

- The parentage of a boy reveals that he has Dawson's disease.
- Our hero finds that all choices are bad, but especially the use of copper.
- A kept promise is broken, as African sleeping sickness rears its ugly head in a relationship.
- The doctor realizes reality in this triple diagnosis, with patients suffering from methanol poisoning, pheochromocytoma, and lung cancer.
- The true cause of a hex is revealed to be anthrax.
- The doctor faces off against a deity, but the true enemy is Tuberos scleriosis and herpes.

Unlucky Cavemen

- A watering hole is constructed by our rocky hero and his best buddy.
- Watching over a child is a difficult task for our hero and his best friend, who take the baby to a wrestling match.
- Whacking a rock into a hole causes a financial rift between our best pal and his friend.
- A Dino-burger joint is the sketchy financial investment of our stone age hero and his best pal.
- Stealing from a financial institution is the crime our hero is framed for as he returns 86k.
- A billboard smash is not what our hero has written, but rather a plagiarized version of "Stardust".

Falling over and over again

- Visitors who cannot leave -- twins make a new home with their uncle in the mystery shack.
- Watch out for this legendary gobbling beast in this boating trip!
- The missing head of a wax sculpture causes a mystery.

- It is not very convenient when one party woos another by fibbing how old they are.
- The smaller twin tries to become the bigger twin by using a magic crystal.

Greater of the Trains

- It's a huge moment for our blue wheeled hero, who messes up by starting before coupling.
- The blue engine saves a broken red engine whose flammable brakes burn out.
- A tractor teaches our hero about the sturdiness of tread.
- The air-born fish train freezes, and Henry gets an upgrade.
- Edward "Old Iron" saves James after a prank.

I choose you, because you are single!

- It's a tiny monster disaster as our hero and his pet heal up and defeat the evil team with a shock. We meet the Rockets for the first time.
- In this second portion of scary buildings, our hero and his pet are brought back to life by 3 prankster ghosts.
- At a shape shifters strange home, our hero and his friends teach a shape shifter how to shape shift its face.

The lesser Pals.

- Number one: an appendage found inside a soda can.
- Ein: clothes cleaner from Deutschland is an awkward romantic encounter between two people who are probably meant for each other.
- A single motherly Bing appears, who, much to the dismay of her son, kisses a friend.
- Part II of I; two girls meet two cute doctors.
- An aubergine, and some beef cause trouble between the friends, who are split on their differing incomes.
- A new roommate turns out to be worse than the old one; a video about stinky felines is in the works.

Far away from 5+4

- Before and after an ex freedom fighter becomes a new member of the stations crew, we're introduced to an ex-spy turned tailor.
- No 10-point letters here, as an alien deity pursues his ex-girlfriend to the station.

- Drawing the plans for war, the ‘‘pope’’ of the planet is stranded on a world where the dead return to life.
- In this song for two, a visitor is suspected to be "Butcher", the war criminal.
- Our crew pretends to be deities as they find a tiny new universe.
- To the other side of the mirror is where our crew goes where no crew has bodily gown before.

Live: Lunar maritimers vs Evil!

- Jedaito is finished in this showdown with our lunar maritime gang.
- Is moderu the new career for our gang, or are they being secretly influenced by the dark?
- Runa has a bad day with a regular kitty.
- Purinsesu training seems to be in store for our heroine.
